1 Question 5

The dimensions of `housing.train` are 404 by 450.

2 Question 6-8

According to R, `Housing.train` had improper column naming conventions and therefore was unusable as an acceptable entry into `'data = '` for initialization of the `theTask` variable. I was unable to find a work around or a solution, but as best I can tell when creating the data set the naming convention places to period symbols side by side like so `'..'` This is the only explanation I could find. I will attempt to obtain help from Dr. Ransom prior to class to fix this issue but may be unable to change this document before the deadline.
